

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An air pressure-adjusting device is provided for adjusting the air pressure in a container. A force is generated by the deflection of a deformation element in the device, which interacts with the force exerted on 5 the deformation element by air in the container. As a result, the rate of lowering air pressure in the bladder of a blood pressure monitor may be controlled accurately.

* * * * *